

The Critical Path is highlighted and bold in red.

In order to keep our sprint in schedule we did sprint planning meeting at the start of the sprint and made sure everyone gets about the same amount of task, so no one will get overloaded. We made sure everyone gets something to do all time during the sprint. We talked to each other on Discord and hold stand-up meetings to make sure everyone is doing okay and keep track of the progress. The team member also helps each other out to make sure no one gets stuck on a task for too long.